FOREWORD

Decentralization has been one of the major policy initiatives of the Government of the United Republic of Tanzania. The most recent policy reform commenced two decades ago and was formulated in 1998 as Decentralisation-by-Devolution (D-by-D). The policy has the main objective to empower citizens, devolve fiscal resources, democratize state power and facilitate effective service delivery in our communities to improving people's welfare. It is also intended to improve transparency and accountability in Local governments, promote good governance and participatory democracy.

Under the decentralization policy, a range of powers, responsibilities and functions are transferred to Local Government Authorities at Council and sub-Council levels. Procurement and contract management was fully transferred to Local Governments as entrenched in the Public Procurement Act (PPA) of 2004 and subsequent revisions made under PPA 2011 and amended in 2016.

In the course of implementing public procurement reform, we have realized the need to strengthening the skills of journalists and reporters in analytical reporting on public procurement - in particular of LGAs - in a bid to enhance the role of the media in information dissemination and accountability of LGA procurement by well-researched, evidence-based reporting on procurement issues that matter to LGA constituents and the Tanzanian public.

In consultations organized by the Authority, representatives of media houses analysed their strategic position in terms of public procurement reporting as providing "an extra eye; an extra ear and an extra voice". In other words, this requires capacity of the media to see, hear and speak out, which requires training, experience and commitment. For these reasons, the Authority has developed this training module on public procurement reporting for journalists and reporters with the aim to inform Tanzanian citizens on public procurement in the Councils through well-researched and correctly reported procurement cases based on evidence-based information.

The module comprises Participants Handbook, Trainer's Guide and additional training materials, which will be made in printed version and on-line. The module should, however, be used together with the Constitution, the Public Procurement Act and its Regulations, Local Government Finance Act, and any legislation relevant to a particular subject or topic.

We would also like to thank the Media Council of Tanzania (MCT) for their valuable inputs during the development of the training module and assistance to the roll-out of the training to selected members of all regions press clubs of Tanzania Mainland.

Finally, we wish to express our deep appreciations and gratitude to our partners and collaborators in the invaluable assistance they gave the Authority in developing, roll-out and final production of the training module. The module is one of the main outputs of the Enhancement of Procurement Capacity of Local Government Authorities project (EPC-LGAP), which was jointly implemented from 2013 to 2017 by the Authority and the Belgian Development Agency (BTC) in partnership with the President's Office - Regional Government and Local Government (PO-RALG).

The Authority invites stakeholders to provide feedback on the use of this training module and undertakes to provide any clarification where required to support capacity building in public procurement reporting in Tanzania.

UNIT 1: PUBLIC PROCUREMENT LEGAL AND REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

Unit Objectives:

By the end of the unit, the participants will be able to:

- Describe the Background of Public procurement laws;
- Understand major contents of PPA, 2011 and its amendments of 2016; and
- Understand major contents of PPR, GN. No. 446 of 2013, GN No. 330 of 2014

1.1 Background of Public Procurement Law

“Procurement” means buying, purchasing, renting, leasing or otherwise acquiring any goods, works or services by a Procuring Entity and includes all functions that pertain to the obtaining of any goods, works or services, including description of requirements, selection and invitation of tenderers, preparation award of contracts and contract management.

Since independence of Tanganyika, the public procurement legal framework (old procurement system) was governed by the Exchequer and Audit Ordinance, CAP 439 of 1961, the various laws establishing the specific public authorities. In 1991, the Government promulgated specific General Regulations for the Procurement of Works, Services and Supplies under the Integrated Roads Project under the Ministry of Works. The regulations were issued in October, 1991. As the title suggests, these regulations were only applicable to the Integrated Roads Project.

In 1982, Local Government Authorities were re-established after ten years of decentralization of government administration under the Decentralization Act, 1972. The re-establishing laws, that is, Local Government (District Authorities) Act No 7 of 1982 and the Local Government (Urban Authorities) Act No. 8 of 1982 gave the local authorities the objectives among others of promoting economic development within their areas of jurisdiction.

Decentralization

Decentralisation refers to the transfer of national responsibilities or functions from central government to sub-national levels of government or from central agencies/offices to regional bodies or branch offices, or to non-governmental organisations or private concerns. This transfer includes the authority to plan, make decisions and manage public affairs including financial resources by agencies other than the central government. According to (Schneider 2003), decentralisation can take on any of the following forms:

- i) Deconcentration: the central government transfers responsibility for policy to its offices. At sub-national level. Under this arrangement, the central government retains authority over the field office and exercises that authority through the hierarchical channels of the central government bureaucracy. Deconcentration allows only moderately more autonomy than centralized systems.
- ii) Delegation: the central government transfers policy responsibility to local governments or semi-autonomous organisations that are not controlled by the central government, but remain accountable to it. Under this arrangement, the central government exercises its control through a contractual relation that enforces accountability of local government. Delegation represents a slightly higher level of administrative autonomy for local entities than under deconcentration.
- iii) Devolution: the central government allows quasi-autonomous local units of government to exercise power and control over the transferred policy. Compared to the other two types of decentralisation, devolution provides the greatest degree of autonomy for the local unit in terms of administrative powers and fiscal resources. The local unit is only accountable to the central government insofar as the central government can impose its will by threatening to withhold resources or responsibilities from the local unit.
- iv) Privatisation: refers to the cases in which decentralisation occurs to organisations outside the government sector.

The Tanzanian local government system is based on political devolution and decentralisation of functions and finances within the framework of a unitary state. The Local Government Reform Policy Paper (URT 1998) puts forward the overall objective of the Decentralisation by Devolution as to making local governments effective centres of self-governance, participation, local decision-making, planning and development. The Policy Paper sets out the policy on decentralisation by devolution (D-by-D), which is expected to contribute to the national drive to reduce poverty by improving service delivery in key areas such as health and education.

Advantages of Decentralisation

There are many potential benefits of decentralisation. The majority of these advantages can be broadly captured as improved efficiency, governance, equality, development and poverty reduction:

- i) Improved efficiency: sub-national governments are said to be closer to the people, have good access to local information and understand the local context well. If so, they can better identify the mix and level of services that their constituents need than the higher-levels, thus improving allocative efficiency.

- ii) Improved governance: decentralised government are able to influence public affairs in ways that directly affect them and empowers people, giving them a sense of control and autonomy.
- iii) Improved equity: local governments are familiar with local circumstances, they are thus in a better position to more equitably distribute public resources and target poverty within their own jurisdictions.
- iv) Improved development and poverty reduction: local governments are expected to contribute to local economic development in a number of ways. First, they can provide services that serve as production and distribution inputs for local firms and entrepreneurs. Second, they can contribute to a legal and institutional environment that is conducive for development. Third, they can help to coordinate key local public, private and community actors in creating partnerships that promote development.

Disadvantages of Decentralisation

The following arguments may also be put forward against decentralization:

- i) Equality problems: Threatens the principle of equality before the law in equal circumstances. For example, citizens in one community may be required to conform to different environmental standards or tax levels in the local community while not similarly restricted in a neighbouring community.
- ii) Competition problems: Puts cities, departments and regions against each other as they attempt to attract profitable business and affluent tax payers to their areas.
- iii) Management capacity problems: Small communities are unable and unequipped to handle such inherently complex problems associated with decentralisation and may not attract qualified and skilled staff.
- iv) Challenge of coordination between local governments and central government (sector) ministries, departments and agencies.

Implementation Challenges

Common implementation challenges of decentralization, in particular devolution, to which Tanzania is no exception, include:

- i) Problems of transition from a highly centralised system;
- ii) Problem of coordination between local governments and central government (sector ministries);

- iii) Revenue expenditure assignment problems, funding of mandates and functions;
- iv) Management capacity; and
- v) Democratic and social accountability.

Public Procurement in the Local Government Authorities was therefore, regulated by the Local Government (District Authorities) Act No 7 of 1982, the Local Government (Urban Authorities) Act No 8 of 1982 and the Local Government (Finances) Act No 9 of 1982. Pursuant to Section 42 of the Local Government (Finances) Act No. 9 of 1982, the Urban Councils' Financial Memorandum was issued in 1983.

Initially, the overall responsibility for procurement rested with the Ministry of Works. This responsibility was later transferred to the Ministry of Finance. The Financial Orders Part III (Stores Regulations), 5th Edition of 1965 stipulated that the purchase of stores or the letting of a contract, the cost of which was more than Tsh 1,000,000 (currently equivalent to US$ 450) for any one item, required the authority of either the Central Tender Board or the Regional Tender Board.

The major shortcoming of the old public procurement system was the inadequacy and fragmentation of the old procurement laws. The legal framework as highlighted above indicated major weaknesses in that the procurement laws were scattered in various statutes that had loopholes with no enforceable penalties.

The Government's effort to undertake public procurement reform in Tanzania Mainland started in 1992 when the Government commissioned a consultant to undertake the Public Procurement and Supply Management Study. At the conclusion of the study it was evident that the public procurement system in Tanzania had serious weaknesses and thus was in urgent need for reform.

Public Procurement Act of 2001

In February, 2001 new public procurement legislation was passed by the Parliament and was subsequently signed into law (The Public Procurement Act No 3 of 2001) by the President. The Act became effective on 1st July, 2001.

The Act provides a comprehensive coverage of all regulatory aspects critical to public procurement. The new Act:- (a) applies to all procurement undertaken by public institutions except for financially independent parastatal organizations and for defence procurement, (b) makes deference to the international obligation of Tanzania at the intergovernmental and international levels, (c) does not cover contract performance or implementation phase, (d) takes into account certain differences between the procurement of goods, works and selection and employment of consultants and (e) establishes several tender boards with the responsibility for procurement, review of tender documents and contract awards in accordance with pre-determined thresholds.

Public Procurement Act of 2004

Government realized to importance to harmonize the legislative framework of public procurement and decentralization. The reform under the Public Procurement Act of 2004 and subsequent enactment of the Public Procurement Act 2011 (URT 2011) restructured procurement to decentralised Procuring Entities (PE) including the LGAs. Procurement enables LGAs to acquire the required goods, services and construction works needed to fulfil their objectives.

Public Procurement Act of 2011

Subsequently Government accommodated several changes in the procurement law after review and evaluation of its use and outcome, which resulted in the (current) Public Procurement Act of 2011. Table 1.1 summarizes the main differences between PPA 2014 and PPA 2011:

Case Study

A.Kazaroho District Council had a Dam construction project amounting to Tsh 7.5 billion. The report presented by the Council DED revealed that the project was successfully completed in 2015. Kibaraka District Council arranged a study tour to learn how to Construct their dam successfully at their LGA. Only to find out that the Dam at Kazaroho District Council did not exist. Discuss the level of Integrity, Accountability, Transparency and Value for Money for the said project.

B. Proposed Questions:

1) In your experience, what are common examples of corruption, conflicts of interest, low integrity, reduced competition or low transparency in procurement in LGAs? 2) Do you consider these to be news worthy? How would you make a story or article on a procurement corruption case?

UNIT 3: PUBLIC PROCUREMENT COMPLIANCE AND PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

Unit Objectives:

By the end of the unit, the participants will be able to:

- Understand the use of Compliance and Performance Indicators for procurement monitoring and reporting in Tanzania reporting; and
- Understand use and implication of red flag checklist to detect likelihood of corruption in procurement.

3.1 Compliance and Performance Indicators

Definition of Compliance

Compliance is abiding by procedures and principles provided by the Law

The procurement compliance indicators used in Tanzania by PPRA contain seven main indicators, which are derived from the procurement legislation (Act and its regulations). The allocations of scores depend on importance of the procurement area (weight) and the score was developed through procurement stakeholders' views and comments collected in 2015. The scores used by the Authority are as shown below;

- a) Institutional Set up and Performance - Max. score 10%
- b) Appropriate preparation and implementation of Annual Procurement Plan (APP) - Max. score 10%
- c) Appropriateness of the Tender Process - Max. score 20%
- d) Appropriateness of contract preparation, formation and implementation - Max. score 40%

Example of sub criteria;

Appropriate management of performance securities, insurances, and advance payment guarantees (whichever is appropriate) 3%) which reveals in the audit reports of LGAs they are not properly requested and managed.

- e) Record Keeping - Max. score 10%
- f) Implementation of systems prepared by PPRA (PMIS/CMS) - Max. score 10%
- g) Handling of complaints - Max. score -10%

3.2 Value for Money Indicators

Definition:

“Value for money” is a concept used to assess an organization’s capacity to obtain the maximum benefit from the goods, services or work it acquires or provides, in close relation to the resources available to it.

It takes into account a complex mix of factors, such as quality, cost, use of resources, and fitness for the organization’s purposes, timeliness and opportunity

Example:

Criteria used in assessment of value for money in procurement for works

The assessment of Value for money in public procurement is carried based on indicators in the five procurement stages namely:

- 1) Planning, Design and Tender Documentation
- 2) Procurement
- 3) Contract Administration
- 4) Project Completion and
- 5) Quality of executed Works

For detailed criteria for each stage of the procurement stages (an example of works category), see annex 1 to this booklet.

Procurement Outcome: Quality of Works

Based on physical site measurements, the reviewer will determine whether dimensions of the following major items of construction of the completed works comply with the drawings and technical specifications. Measurements will be taken to ascertain whether dimensions shown on the drawings, paid for or reported done were correct and complying with standards, specifications and best practices. Visual assessment is done in order to determine whether the completed works are satisfactory in terms of:

- Overall quality of workmanship;
- Overall quality of materials used;
- Overall quality of riding surface; and
- Absence of defects, such as cracks, ruts and localized potholes

PPRA has a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), which requires the Authority to share audit findings with the Controller and Auditor General (CAG).

3.3 Corruption Red flags Checklists

The red flags checklists were developed jointly by PPRA and PCCB

Objective of the Checklist

The objective of this Red Flags Checklist is to provide a tool for the Public Procurement Regulatory Authority (PPRA) to collect information about possible symptoms of corruption in the procurements carried out by procuring entities in Tanzania.

When to use the Checklist?

The Red Flags Checklist are applied in all audits carried out by PPRA by the auditor as part of his or her auditing of the various phases of the procurement. The red flags checklists have three phases used for different stages of procurement process;

- a) Pre-bid phase
- b) Evaluation and award phase
- c) Contract Management and audit phase.

Implications of Red Flags Checklists

The level of tolerance for red flags is 1 to 19% if the score is 20% and above the issue should be submitted to PCCB for further investigations. If PCCB finds there is case to answer, they forward it to the DPP.

Exercise

Excercise 1. Case study on Excess bill of Quantities

Value for money audit of the Construction of Maboresho District Council Multipurpose Hall at Maboresho town revealed the following: there were provisions in the Bills of Quantities which were repetitive on the same function especially on the Raft Foundation concrete Class 30, finishing and floor tiles. The excess quantities were valued at 100 million.

Required: Explain the possible causes of the above weakness and how it can be avoided through observing best practices in procurement contract administration and management.

UNIT 4: PROCUREMENT COMPLIANCE AND PERFORMANCE IN TANZANIA

Unit Objectives:

By the end of the unit, the participants will be able to:

- Understand previous and current procurement performance trends
  - Compare procurement performance of LGAs
  - Compare and contrast performance of Procuring Entities in Tanzania
- Procurement compliance and performance trends have been increasing recently. For example, the overall compliance with the laws, regulations and guidelines by PEs was 65% in 2013/14, 69% in 2014/15 and 71% 2015/16; the trend has been positively increasing. Number of Procuring Entities audited per year by the PPRA was 76 (43 LGAs), 80 (39 LGAs) and 70 (25 LGAs) respectively. The current number of LGAs is 185. The estimated audited PEs is 1/3 of PEs per year.

Tables 4.1 and 4.2 indicate overall and specifically to Local Government Authorities (LGAs) procurement performance trends in three consecutive years using various performance indicators of Compliance to Procurement Laws, Regulations and Guidelines and Value for Money (VfM). Comparison is drawn between overall performance in the whole country for the Procuring Entities (PEs), which were audited and those of Local Government Authorities (LGAs).

The overall VfM performance as shown in table 4.1 for two consecutive years, namely; 2013/14 and 2014-15 was 65% and 64.5% respectively. Also in compliance, during the same year of reporting, performance was 65% and 69% respectively. The trend has shown a drop of 0.5 on VfM in the reported year, signifying weaknesses in one area or another.

Corruption Red Flag

Table 4.2 indicate contract in LGA with high level of corruption red flag for two consecutive years. The table indicates reduction of high red flag contract from 2014/15 to 2015/16 in LGA. Contract with high red flag were reduced from 27 to 5 for LGA respectively.

Table 4.2 Procurement Red Flags

FY	Total Contracts Audited	Contracts with high Red Flag	Contract in LGAs with high Red Flag
2014/15	5,206	27	27
2015/16	21,313	20	5

4.2 Current Procurement Performance

The last audit report (2015/16) produced by PPRA indicated a positive improvement in the current performance of the PEs, including LGAs, in comparison with the previous years. The overall performance in VfM is 74.7%, an increase of 10.2%, and 71% compliance, an increase of 2% compared to last year's performance. In particular, LGAs have shown a great improvement in performance especially on the VfM by scoring 82.7%, an increase of 14.73%, and 70% in compliance procurement laws and regulations, an increase of 3% compared to previous year performance as depicted in table 4.1. The increase according to PPRA report is as a result of joint effort between PPRA and other partners, BTC being one of the key partners.

Groups Discussion

Discuss if you have readily access to public procurement audit reports? Do you know the performance of the LGAs in your region? How could this facilitate news reporting in this particular area?

UNIT 5: STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE OF LGA PROCUREMENT PROCESSES

Unit Objectives:

By the end of the unit, the participants will be able to:

- Explain the procurement process and procedures in LGAs
- Explain procurement systems and tools used in LGAs

5.1 LGA's Procurement Cycle

Six phases can be distinguished in the LGA procurement contract life cycle, i.e., pre-solicitation phase, solicitation phase, proposal evaluation, contract award, contract administration and contract closeout.

1) Pre-solicitation

The pre-solicitation phase of the contracting cycle begins immediately following the Procuring Entity's decision to send a solicitation to prospective contractors that appear to be qualified to provide the needed services to the entity on a contract basis. There are numerous decisions that must be made prior to release of a solicitation to the private sector. According to PPA (2011)/PPR (2013), Procuring Entities are required to prepare procurement plans in line with their annual budgets.

2) Solicitation

The solicitation phase commences when the Invitation to Tender or Request for Proposal is released to the prospective contractors and terminates when the proposals are received by the Procuring Entity.

3) Tender Evaluation

The tender evaluation phase begins upon receipt of bids from the prospective tenderers and ends when the tender evaluation committees recommend a tenderer for award of contract. In evaluating tenders, strict adherence to the evaluation criteria contained in the Invitation to tender is required. Failure to evaluate the tenders according to the evaluation criteria can result in unnecessary complaints from an aggrieved bidders.

4) Contract Award

The contract award phase begins when the tender evaluation committee completes the evaluation of bids and recommends a tenderer for award of a contract. However, complications can occur during the contract award phase. For example, complaints can be submitted by aggrieved tenderers following contract award.

5) Contract Administration

Managing a contract after its award is extremely important to ensure that a Procuring Entity gets value it expects from the money it spends and enhances supplier relationship management that guarantees contractual undertakings and dispute avoidance

The contract administration phase begins upon award of the contract and continues until the contractor has fulfilled all its contractual responsibilities. During this phase, the Procuring Entity staff are generally involved in monitoring the contractor's performance, evaluating contractor invoices and making progress payments, evaluating proposed changes to the contract provisions, negotiating contract changes, and preparing modifications to the contract. Significant involvement on the part of Procuring Entity personnel is necessitated to deal with problem solving when a contractor's performance degrades to a substandard state.

6) Contract Closeout

Contract Closeout happens when all contract deliverables have been received, all contract services delivered and all work performed. Contract closeout requires effective coordination by the Contract Supervisor between the supplier and the Council's Finance and Procurement offices. The process involves the final invoice review, to ensure that all costs were incurred, allowable, and adequately supported. Final payment should not be rendered until the contract closeout review is completed.

5.2 LGAs Procurement Systems

a) Manual procurement system

The procurement system which the issue and receiving of procurement documents is done manually. The tender documents are prepared by LGAs and issued to Bidders; the bids are prepared and submitted manually on the tender opening day. The evaluation of tenders and other processes are also done manually.

b) Automated procurement system

The system will be applicable under e-procurement procedure of which the Authority is still working on it to allow LGAs and other Procurement Entities to use the system.

5.3 Tools in LGA Procurement

LGAs procurement use several tools in order to achieve their procurement objectives, in particular procedural forms and Standard Bidding Documents.

List of Procedural Forms

There are procedural forms developed by PPRA in Swahili and English for PEs/LGAs to use in the procurement process; the list of procedural forms is as follows;

3. Request for approval of procurement/selection method - submission to Tender Board
4. Request for approval of pre-qualification document/expression of interest and notice - submission to Tender Board
5. Request for approval of bidding document/request for proposal and bid notice/shortlist - submission to Tender Board
6. Request for approval of addendum to bidding document/request for proposal - submission to Tender Board
7. Minutes of pre-bid meeting

14. Record of negotiations
15. Request for approval of negotiations - submission to Tender Board
16. Request for approval of contract award recommendations - submission to Tender Board
17. Request for approval of contract amendments - submission to Tender Board

Standard Bidding Documents (SDB)

PPRA is mandated and has issued Standard Bidding Documents and Guidelines for use by all PEs committing funds under Public Procurement in Tanzania.

Procurement Management Information Systems (PMIS)

According to Section 63 of PPA, 2011 as replaced by Section 63 of PP (amendment) 2016, it is legal requirement to each PE to submit reports to the Authority through electronic procedures or manually where electronic facilities are not available.

The Procurement Management Information Systems is an important tool used by PEs/LGAs for submission of the following reports to the Authority;

- a) Annual Procurement Plan
- b) Checklist
- c) Contract completion report
- d) Monthly procurement reports
- e) Quarterly procurement reports

Corruption Act No. 11 of 2007 to prevent corruption, educate the society on the effects of this problem, and enforce the law against corruption practices. The PCCB's mandate is defined under section 7 of the Prevention and Combating of Corruption ACT, 2007 (PCCA 2007) and allows the bureau to:

8.4 Access to Procurement Information

Press club members may access procurement information and use this in procurement reporting from the above mentioned oversight bodies in regard to procurement in LGAs i.e. PPRA, Procuring Entities, CAG, PCCB, PO-RALG, websites, etc.

Groups Exercise

On the mandates and boundaries of the external oversight bodies, discuss their roles vis-à-vis the Council actors. Are you generally provided with access to public procurement information if so requested?

UNIT 9: MAJOR RISKS AREAS IN LGA PROCUREMENT

Unit Objectives:

By the end of the unit, the participants will be able to:

- Identify internal and external risks involves in LGA procurement

9.1 Internal Risks

Definition

Generally, risk can be defined as 'the probability of an unwanted outcome happening'. Variations in price/cost and foreign exchange, failure of either party to fulfil the conditions of the contract, unjustified (unauthorised) increase in scope of work or contracts transfer of ownership. Outcomes of risk includes cost overruns, contract disputes, quality failures, delays in delivery/completion, downtime, Legal action (litigation).

Risk management during contract period comprises those activities associate with identifying and controlling the risks that may potentially affect the successfully fulfilment of the contract (Easley, 2007).

Key activities in risk management

Risk management involves three key activities: risk analysis, risk assessment and risk mitigation. As explained below:

- i) Risk analysis: identify potential problems and estimate their probability of occurring.
- ii) Risk assessment: estimate the impact of a potential supply problem (glitch or disruption) on PE operations.
- iii) Risk mitigation: design plans to prevent potential supply disruptions and allocate risks and responsibilities to people/departments that will be responsible for their management.

Importance of risk management

Procuring Entities must ensure that their procurement of goods and services achieves the best value for money outcome. At the corporate level, achieving best value for money outcomes requires public entities to ensure that their procurement activities are aligned with Government policies, objectives and strategies and that they actively support whole of government initiatives.

Classification of risks

Scope risks – Risks associated with “scope creep”, including changed Program requirements, changed performance specifications, re-defined technical deliverables, amended preferences (e.g., furniture, finishes and furnishing) and unanticipated external unknowns (e.g., site conditions).

Quality risks: The probability of not meeting the intended conformance (usability) of the goods, works or services. These are mishaps in terms of usability, conformance, satisfaction or the intended end-user's specific needs.

Cost risks: Possibility of a budgeted procurement cost to surpass the present amount due to some uncalculated contingences and the materialisation of the same. They happen due to ineffective and/or inefficient controlling and monitoring of the procurement process – from initiation of the need throughout the 1st, 2nd and 3rd phase of the procurement process.

Schedule (Time) Risks: Possibilities of variations in time of delivery and/or completion of works projects or services contracts. Occurrence of these schedule risks have normally associative consequences with quality (if quality was identified as a primary of the contract) or with cost (if cost was identified as a primary and under fixed contract).

Table 9.1 Risk Management Table

Specific Risk	Pre-Risk Mitigation		Post-Risk Mitigation		Example of risk mitigation measures
	Probability	Impact	Probability	Impact
Adversarial employer-employee relationship	M	M	M	M	LGA project supervisors carefully manage the work and not the contractor's employees, contract will be written so as not to give rise to creation of an employer-employee relationship
Cost of litigation, including investigation for discovery	L	M-H	L	M	Encourage the use of alternate dispute resolution mechanisms
Insolvency of contractor	L	H	L	M	Use financial security in the form of performance bonds or standby irrevocable line of credit
Settlement for	L	L	L	L	None

Specific Risk	Pre-Risk Mitigation		Post-Risk Mitigation		Example of risk mitigation measures
	Probability	Impact	Probability	Impact
wrongful dismissal of licensee or contractor etc

Consequences of not Managing Risks Effectively

The consequences of not managing procurement risk effectively can include:

- a) Discontinuity in the supply of essential goods or services,
- b) Avoidable increases in project costs and in the unit costs of purchased inputs, in both the immediate and longer-term,
- c) Loss of power and influence in relationships with essential suppliers,
- d) Loss of market share or revenue through inability to meet customers demand,
- e) Cash flow problems,
- f) Procurement outcomes that do not support organisational needs and objectives, e.g. that undermine an organisation's ability to respond to changing circumstances,
- g) Opportunity for fraud and corruption,
- h) Negative impact on reputation in the market place,
- i) Exposure of officers to prosecution and litigation.

It is important that all risks are identified and appropriately managed. There are a number of risks involved in contract management. Annex 4 presents types and examples of risks in LGA contract management and Annex 5 which indicates Control Procedures for Addressing Contract Management Risks

9.2 External Risks

External risks may be associated with changes in the government financial management system, including:

- ☒ Central Government interference (e.g. cancelation of budgets during procurement and procurement contract process)
- ☒ Central Government changing interests in LGAs' planned projects

- ☒ External partners (donors; PPP, etc) changing funding agreements which were previously agreed.

Exercise

Do you consider procurement risks newsworthy? What would be the content of your article / story? Who would feature in your story/report? What do you see as the main challenges in preparing the report/story? What would be the key message of the story/report?

UNIT 10: ASSESSMENT OF SWOT FOR LGA PROCUREMENT REPORTING

Unit Objectives:

By the end of the unit, the participants will be able to:

- Understand the strategic situation of procurement reporting in Tanzania
- Compare and contrast the previous and current situations
- Use procurement knowledge gained to report accurately and adequately on LGAs procurement issues

10.1 Lessons Learned in Procurement Reporting

Representatives of media houses analysed their strategic position in terms of public procurement reporting on May 2015 during the PPRA Media Day as follows:

Strengths: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Ownership is on our hands</li> <li>• Skills for enquiring, writing, collecting information and developing stories</li> <li>• Media liberty (freedom of press)</li> <li>• Freedom of expression</li> <li>• Citizens believe in media</li> </ul>	Weaknesses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Poor coordination and cooperation between editors and reporters</li> <li>• Personal interests of the media owners</li> <li>• Limitations in accessing information</li> <li>• Lack of sufficient working facilities</li> <li>• Limited knowledge on PPA and PPRA</li> </ul>
Opportunities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Access to PPRA website, advisory desk and e-learning portal that provide access to procurement information including the Acts and Regulations, documents and reports related to public procurement</li> <li>• Accessibility of General procurement Notices that express various opportunities available of procuring entities</li> <li>• Tanzania Procurement Journal with public procurement related information</li> </ul>	Threats: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Lack of transparency in procurement process as some of the tenders are not carried out in a competitive environment</li> <li>• Lack of reliable information with regard to tendering</li> <li>• Journalists are threatened when reporting on corruption issues or misappropriation in procurement</li> <li>• Lack of support from the Local Government Authorities leaders</li> </ul>

10.2 Role of Media in LGA Procurement Reporting

Media houses are entrusted with a very important role to ensure that the public is accurately informed about matters surrounding public procurement in and outside Tanzania. There are still many issues that stand obscured in public procurement, that the public is not aware of. For example, public awareness on services offered by

PPRA is still minimal, in such a way that some citizens including journalists themselves are uninformed of the right source of information on public procurement /matters in Tanzania. It is in this regard, that news media have the following roles:-

- (i) Inform citizens on public procurement laws and how they are applied in governing public procurement in Tanzania. In this view, journalists would need to go beyond and use their investigative skills to analyse PPRA's Performance and Audit Reports and extract newsworthy information.
- (ii) Since public procurement is an issue of great public interest, media has to competently play its watchdog role in promoting accountability in public procurement governance in Tanzania.
- (iii) Educate citizens so that they are aware of the role and functions of all institutions bestowed by PPA especially PPRA and investigate their performance over time.
- (iv) Public procurement involves huge budgetary outlays for economic and social development. Media can professionally inform public opinion and debate regarding effectiveness of public procurement expenditure on the quality of life of the citizenry.
- (v) Effective procurement reporting roles would be realized and in practice get reflected in news content forms of hard news, features/documentaries, news analyses/opinions and editorials.

10.3 Review of Journalism Scope in LGA Procurement Reporting

The knowledge and practical experiences gained during this training programme on public procurement reporting enhances your competency on reporting in this specialised field. Just as journalists do their reporting work in other areas, for instance, health, business, crime, environment, science etc, the same can be accomplished in procurement reporting.

So, it now possible to collect, process and disseminate procurement information through various forms of media reports as follows:

- Hard stories/follow-ups
- Features/Programmes
- Investigative reports
- News analysis
- Editorials/commentaries/opinions
- Identify news story from this Case Study and reporting approach.
- Explore all possibilities for developing features/programmes, investigative report from the given Case Study

Exercise

Review the 2015 SWOT, discuss prevailing situation and develop a new SWOT.
Explore implications for public procurement reporting.

Annex 2: Red Flags Checklist

How to use the Checklist?

The Checklist consists of 50 statements ("red flags"), each of which must be thoroughly considered by the auditor when auditing procurement. For each statement, the auditor must assess whether the statement is true or false, or whether the statement is not relevant to the procurement in question. Based on the assessment, the auditor must tick one of three possible boxes: "Yes", "No", or "Not applicable". The three boxes are to be used as follows:

|-----------------------|---|
| Yes            | Indicates that the auditor is able to verify the red flag based on the available documentation. For example, for red flag no. 8 (Using inappropriate method of procurement), the assessor should look whether method applied for the procurement is in line with the requirement of the PPA and PPR, not only that but also to check whether non-competitive methods used had reasonable justifications, in order to establish if there is an artificially deviation from the required method to favour certain bidder. If this is the case, the auditor will verify this red flag by ticking "Yes".  |
| No             | Indicates that the auditor is able to falsify the red flag based on the available documentation. For example, for red flag no. 23 (Bidders submits unrealistic bid indicating collusion or cartel bidding), the auditor must compare the formats, content, prices of all submitted tenders in order to detect major similarities. If such similarities are not found, the auditor falsifies this red flag by ticking "No".  |
| Not applicable | Indicates that the "red flag" is not relevant to the method of procurement used for the procurement case in question. For example, red flag no. 5 ( The tender is not packaged with other tenders for similar nature ) only applies to procurement of goods, as the problem of splitting contracts is not relevant to works and services. When completing the Red Flags Checklist for major works procurement, the auditor hence ticks "Not applicable" for this red flag. Similarly, red flag no. 9 ( Insufficient advertising ) does only apply to procurements using competitive methods for which advertisement is a requirement. When completing the Red Flags Checklist for a quotation, the auditor hence ticks "Not applicable". In other words, the auditor is required to use his or her professional judgment when completing the Checklist. |

The “Not applicable” box shall also be used if insufficient documentation is available to assess whether a red flag exists or not.

For each of the 50 red flags on the Checklist, one, and only one, of the three boxes must be ticked off. By completion of the Checklist, no single red flag on the list must remain unanswered.

How to analyse information collected in the red flag check list

The check list should be calculated through two stages in the following way;

First stage (Single tender)

At this stage, percentage of corruption symptoms should be calculated for each sampled tender as follows;

- i. Calculate percentages of corruption symptoms at each procurement phase by summing-up the number of all ‘Nos’ for the particular phase and divide it to the total number (Summation) of ‘Yes’ and ‘No’ for the particular phase and multiply by one hundred.
- ii. Calculate percentage of corruption symptoms for all procurement phases i.e. Sum-up the number of all ‘Nos’ for the entire check list divide it to the total number of ‘Yes’ and ‘No’ for the entire check list and multiply by one hundred.

By formula; Percentage of corruption symptoms;
$$= \frac{\Sigma (No)}{\Sigma (Yes) + (No)} * 100\%$$

Second stage (all sampled tenders)

The second stage deals with calculation of the average percentage of corruption symptoms for the overall procurement activities done by the Procuring Entity which is calculated based on the sampled tenders as follows;

- i. Percentage average of corruption symptoms found at each phase for the sampled tenders- calculated by summing-up percentage of corruption symptoms found for the particular phase of the sampled tenders and divides it to total number of tenders sampled.
- ii. Average of the overall percentages of corruption symptoms for the sampled tenders- calculated by summing-up percentage of overall corruption symptoms for each tender divided to the total number of sampled tenders.

Annex 4: Categories and Examples of Risks in LGAs Contract Management

Risk Category	Examples
General risks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– The LGA is not complying with applicable laws and regulations (e.g. the Public Procurement Act on tendering, architectural, safety, fire, or others depending on type of project);</li> <li>– Bidding, supplier selection or contract amendments may not comply with the best practice or the Public Procurement Act and the Financial Memorandum;</li> <li>– LGA stakeholders do not want the project/activity to take place;</li> <li>– There is a possibility that LGA employees or contractors intentionally misrepresent, conceal, omit information, or commit a crime/fraud to deceive or manipulate the LGA;</li> <li>– Materials and tools (for a construction project) stored on site are not monitored resulting in theft;</li> <li>– The project may not be completed on time.</li> </ul>
Contract specific risks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– The project design (for construction or engineering works) uses new technology that is not tried or tested;</li> <li>– The activity performed may lack quality and thus compromises integrity (or safety in case of construction).</li> </ul>
Billing and Payment risks	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– There is a possibility that the budget is not sufficient to meet the needs of the project;</li> <li>– There is a possibility that the work may be behind schedule in accordance to contract agreement;</li> <li>– There is a possibility that payment made is not in accordance with the level of work completed;</li> <li>– Financial reporting guidelines may not be adhered to;</li> <li>– There is a possibility that the invoice balances and project stages are not accurately stated and appropriately reconciled;</li> <li>– Critical information necessary to adequately manage the project (e.g. change orders, billing adjustments, and cost overrun) are not being sufficiently reported to the appropriate level of the LGA management;</li> <li>– Sub-contractors may submit payments under different name or bill for services already charged by the main contractor.</li> </ul>

Annex 5: Control Procedures for Addressing Contract Management Risks

Category	Examples
Pre-contract	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– Ensure that clear objectives of the project are defined clearly in specifications;</li> <li>– Run background checks on suppliers prior being asked to bid;</li> <li>– Require that suppliers selection be documented;</li> <li>– Include a right to audit provision in supplier contract specifying reimbursement for audit costs if the audit results in the discovery of overpayment in excess of five percent of the total contract amount;</li> <li>– Require suppliers to maintain insurance and provide proof of the same.</li> </ul>
Contract executions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– Perform periodic walkthrough and issue follow-up reports accordingly;</li> <li>– Require budgets be updated monthly to show expected costs and costs incurred to date;</li> <li>– Require status update or minutes of meetings be kept and maintained as part of project documentation;</li> <li>– Request for reimbursable expenses be back with receipts and proof that payment for expenses has already been made</li> </ul>
Post contract	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– Ensure that final lien waivers are secured;</li> <li>– Run a proof of expenses occurred against expenses accrued to ensure consistency;</li> <li>– Secure and file documents according to required retention rules.</li> </ul>
